Citizens Form Permanent Group
To Promote and Help Finance
Work of Local Cadet Corps

An Honorary Members Association of the Vulcan Cadet Corps was formed at a dinner meeting in the I. O. O. F. Hall last Friday evening, and will be headed by C. W. Loose, prominent district farmer. The object of the Association is to assist in financial and other ways with the promotion and training of the local Cadet Corps.

Present at the banquet were over forty members of the Vulcan Cadet Corps, from Milo, Reid Hill and Vulcan; about forty honorary members and a small number of guests.

Kearns, Administration and Training Officer, The Calgary Highlanders; and C. S. M. Goodman of the Cadet Training Staff, Calgary.

After dinner speakers included Major Mahoney, who spoke on the value of cadet training and of the traditions behind the cadet flag which they had received that afternoon. He expressed his pleasure at the wonderful support the people of Vulcan were giving their Cadet Corps and complimented the Corps on their fine showing, with particular mention of the good work of Cadet Sgt. Arthur Chell.

E. G. Hansell, M. P. told the Cadets to be proud of their country, and to be proud of their uniform and what it stands for. He hoped that they would never find it necessary to fight for those traditions and for the freedom to pursue their own way of life, but told them to uphold those traditions at all times.

Capt. Davies also spoke briefly, saying that he was very proud of the Vulcan Corps.

Immediately following the bountiful and delicious chicken dinner, prepared by various cadet mothers under the sponsorship of Mrs. F. J. Mensinger, Mrs. K. Elder and Mrs. G. A. Sales, the Cadets and

NURSERY OF THE NATION

AFTER scanning the names on the high school register of a small town over a period of fifteen or twenty years, one is inclined to agree with the rough statement that a country town retains only about one-third of its young people for permanent settlement. The other two-thirds (and perhaps more) are released, year by year, in a never ending stream to the larger world outside.

From this angle the small town is rightly called the nursery of the nation. Here children are born and educated, with care and expense given to their upbringing, all in the full awareness that only about one-third of this youthful vigor and power will go into the further building of the home settlement.

There is something quite admirable about this spirit. Cheerily and ungrudgingly the small town invests over one-third its total tax revenue in educational services, bringing its young people to the threshold of university or other training school, providing them with the implements by which they may climb higher, or fit them more adequately for the role of good citizen. In this respect a generous contribution is made to national life, a contribution which does not get much recognition—certainly not by way of proper educational grants from senior governments.

It is not only in education that the national nursery prepares young people for life. It pays considerable attention to organized sport and recreation for the young. Added to this is a favorable natural environment. Alberta small town youngsters, for example, have space, clear air and sunshine for their growing years. From early childhood most of them ride horseback, skate, scout and go fishing. At proper age they go forth with rifle and shot gun, learning the rules of the hunting world. It is doubtful if many children in the world have greater diversity of outdoor amusement on such democratic scale and at such small cost.

There is also fairly vigilant supervision of general conduct, not without its irritations, but in the long run, justifying itself. Any revolt against accepted rules seems to have more serious repercussions in centres of small population than in a large city, and many a small town youth checks himself for no better reason than that he does not want to reflect badly on his parents or be "on the neighbors' tongue." Perhaps not the best of motives for orderly conduct of course, but a brake which may get him through obstreperous youthful years on to solid footing.

Altogether, allowing for human frailties, the result of small town training is fairly good. And where do these outgoing products come to anchor in fulfilling their usefulness? Often to uttermost parts of the earth, in mining, banking, in agricultural, scientific or technical pursuits the world over. They are in trades, business or professions in every part of Canada and United States.

And so the rural communities express themselves, not only in the fine young people that they manage to retain, but in the type of youth they send forth to carry on the work of the world outside. Surely this is a meritorious and unselfish contribution which should be recognized nationally.

Wheat Pool 24 Years Old

Twenty-four years ago, on October 29, 1923, the Alberta Wheat Pool opened offices in the Louheed Building, Calgary. A few modest rooms provided accommodation for the small staff. The first manager was Chester M. Elliott, since deceased. T. R. Humphries was the first accountant. He and N. P. Davison, of the growers' department, are the only original members of the staff now in the employ of the Pool.

The first signer of an Alberta Wheat Pool contract was J. E. Gustus, now deceased, who farmed at Yankee Valley, 25 miles north-east of Calgary. The first member to deliver wheat to the Alberta Wheat Pool was the late John Martin of Dairo.

The initial payment for the 1923 Pool wheat was 75c a bushel, basis 1 northern at the terminal. Although faced with many difficulties pioneering in a new field the Alberta Pool carried its first year's operations to a successful conclusion by marketing over 34 million bushels of wheat at a cost of 3/4c a bushel, and returned a net price to its members of $1.01, basis 1 northern at Fort William.

Henry Wise Wood was chosen as the first chairman of the board of directors and continued in that office until 1936. Lew Hutchinson of Duhamel was chairman from 1936 to 1941. George Bennett of Mannville was chairman during 1942 and 1943. Ben S. Plumer of Bassano was elected chairman in 1943. R. D. Purdy was appointed manager in 1945.

From October 29, 1923, to October 29, 1947, the Alberta Wheat Pool has handled approximately 980 million bushels of grain, has paid patronage dividends in cash and reserves to a total of over $5,800,000, and has rendered exceptional service in many ways to the grain producers of this province. From small beginnings it has in 24 years developed into the largest single business concern operating within the confines of this province.—Wheat Pool Budget.

Fox Farming Obstacles

(From Calgary Albertan)

The silver Fox farm just east of High River, operated by J. Wiley for the past 25 years, has seen tremendous fluctuation in the price of pelts. Twenty years ago a good skin brought $150 and a good pair of breeders cost from $200 to $1000 per pair. But today, according to Mr. Wiley, the market is at its lowest, with best pelts bringing $11.65 for an animal which costs $25 to raise.

Last year the fur market in U.S.A. was glutted with a surplus of pelts sent from Europe, which, in the opinion of fox breeders, did much to send the prices to rock bottom. Many ranchers in this district are giving up fox farms, with prices plummeting, and expenses sky-rocketing.

Mr. Wiley, although reducing his herd, still has 930 head of silver, black, platinum and ring-necked foxes. He has been experimenting with silver and platinum breeds developing a strain which has been much in demand.

The food, besides horse meat consists of tripe, fish block, (a highly concentrated grade of Haddock), also oranges and lemons to improve the fur texture. As fruit prices went up, and fox pelts went down, Mr. Wiley substituted vegetables for fruit. Until last year five men were employed at the Wiley farm.

Some years ago 38 of the animals escaped from their pens, and to capture them Mr. Wiley got well-trained wolf hounds from Blackie, which were muzzled, in order not to harm the fur. The chase led all over the country; some were taken east of Blackie, while others were captured around Turner Valley. Only half the number lost were retrieved. As the dogs worried the foxes, Mr. Wiley and his assistants caught the fugitives and placed them in a truck.

Pelting season is from Nov. 25 to Dec. 10 and the foxes are at their best now.

The federal house will start its winter session on Dec. 6.

Services Made Possible Through Christmas Seals

Amongst the many services performed through funds raised by Christmas seals is the "case finding" through circulation of the moving X ray clinics. During the months of August and September there were 16,539 Albertans X rayed in the northern and central part of the province. Out of these there were 24 active cases detected and 118 probable T.B. cases inactive. In addition 414 other abnormalities were discovered. The grand total X rayed to date has been 353,224 and out of these there were probable T.B. cases numbering 650 active and 3,758 inactive. There have been a total of 16,631 abnormalities discovered as a result of this service operating under the T.B. Seals campaign. The operating efficiency of the X ray work is one person per minute.

Vocational Training
Another service is vocational training linked with the convalescent period in Sanatoriums.

Six patients were helped through courses in stenography, secretarial work and accounting, two were given courses at a barber college, correspondence courses were arranged for two patients in dress-making and designing, and job-finding help was extended to four more.

The most important news in this department is the announcement by President R. W. Roscoe of the appointment of Stanley D. Cameron, B.A., as full-time Rehabilitation Officer. His duties will commence on November 1st, and his headquarters for the present will be at Central Alberta Sanatorium, Calgary. He will work in closest co-operation with the D.V.A. for rehabilitation of tuberculosis veterans.

Occupational Therapy
Seventy-five patients in Edmonton, and 115 at Central Alberta Sanatorium are at present taking advantage of this department. The activities of the patients continue to grow, and now include work with silver, a good deal of clay modelling, shell jewelry and some weaving.

The latest sale of patients handiwork, held at Hudson's Bay Company in Calgary, brought nearly $500. It should be mentioned that the Bay has been co-operating with us for several years, providing space in the store and a good deal of help in publicizing the sales, all without charge. This is very much appreciated.

Routine X ray at Hospital
In July the Royal Alexandra hospital at Edmonton started a routine chest X ray of patients admitted to hospital. Other hospitals may eventually adopt this practice with assistance from the Seals campaign.

The Only Source of Revenue
As has been announced, the objective for this year's Christmas Seal sale is $125,000. This is a considerable increase over last year's objective, which we exceeded.

ed by nearly $4,000.
Last year nearly 65,000 individual contributions were received for an average of $1.64 per contribution. No matter how large or how small, every contribution is gratefully received, but it must be admitted that $1.64 is not a large average by comparison with donations to many other fund-raising campaigns.

The Anti-Tubercular Society depends entirely on free-will gifts of interested people who wish to help in the fight to eradicate tuberculosis. They sponsor no high-pressure campaign, no special stunts or other methods. They do feel, however, that many thousands of people could, without difficulty, increase their contributions very considerably.

For example, if a few thousand of those who gave $2 last year would send $5 this year, and if even a few hundred of the $5 contributions were boosted to $10, and so on, objective would be assured.

Farm Radio Forum on the Air

The National Farm Radio Forum got under way on November 3rd at 8:30 p.m. with a program of particular interest to young people.

Mr. Lawrence Proudfoot, past president of the Junior U.F.A., took part in the first broadcast entitled "Youth on the Farm". This will be followed by other programs of particular importance to the community and will then branch out to topics of provincial and national importance.

All rural junior organizations were urged to hold a special meeting on this first night. The Provincial Farm Forum office believes that these radio broadcasts will provide a well rounded program for the winter months. Registration with the provincial office will supply the group with Farm Forum Guides and other information dealing with the topics under discussion.

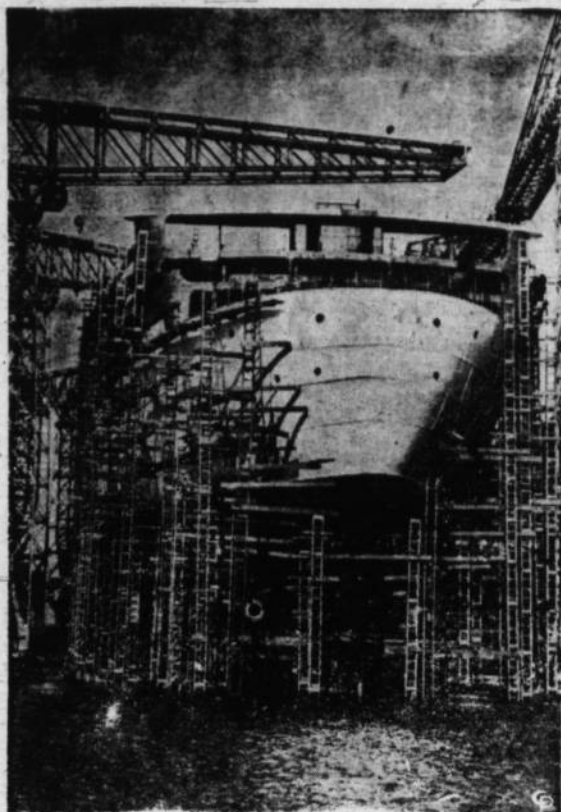

Participation in this program through an organized group provides a channel for expressing farm opinion over a nation-wide radio hook-up. It encourages social activities and offers a chance to develop rural leadership.

Register now with the Provincial office, 525 Lougheed Building, Calgary.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH LAUNCHES SHIP

The largest ship being built in the world at present, the Caronia, and the largest merchant vessel to leave the Clydebank, Scotland, stocks since the Queen Elizabeth, was launched by Princess Elizabeth on Oct. 30. Drag chains used in the launching of these great ships, Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, did service again when this new 34,000-ton Cunard White Star liner went down the slipways at John Brown's yard. Here is a stern view of the Caronia in the stocks at Clydebank.

Ask British Out of Palestine

At the United Nations Assembly the United States representative has proposed that Palestine be divided into independent Arab and Jewish States by July of next year. The British would be asked to leave Palestine at that time.

A three-man United Nations commission would help set up the new Arab and Jewish governments in the preceding months, and in the meantime Arab and Jewish States should set up their own security forces.

Although Arabs have threatened full war if Palestine is partitioned U.S. did not guarantee the border of the new States, and questions did not bring any commitment as to what it would do if the partition provoked war.

This is the first time a definite date has been set for partitioning and British withdrawal.

Ontario.

Gentlemen:

We recently received an inquiry from Mid-Town Motors as to the performance of the fleet of Pontiacs which they delivered to us.

In our fleet of over one hundred vehicles there are more Pontiacs than any other make of passenger car. This is rather remarkable because Pontiacs rent for a little more than some of our other cars, but we have bought more of them for two reasons:

1. There is a persistent demand for Pontiacs by customers who have once driven them, and
2. Pontiac maintenance costs have been very low.

We believe there is no better purchase in today's automobile market than the Pontiac. We like its Fisher body and its L-head motor, but best of all we appreciate the low upkeep cost and freedom from minor adjustments and maintenance jobs which we have experienced—and our opinion is based on over 2,000,000 miles of operation of our fleet of Pontiacs.

Yours sincerely,
S. F. Tilden

The Womens Institute held their

Champion and District

November meeting, Tuesday, 11th, at the home of Mrs. Chas. McLean. There were 14 present and Mrs. R. Bond presided. The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada" followed by one minute silence in respect to those who had given their all in the two great wars.

Mrs. W. Fleischman read a most interesting paper on "Women of Japan," their unhappiness, trials and tribulations as the weaker sex.

It was decided the December meeting would be in the form of a dinner party in honor of the husbands of the members to be held in the Community hall, Dec. 10th. An entertaining programme is being arranged.

Election of officers for the ensuing year followed. Mrs. Bond was re-elected president as were Mrs. P. Patterson as vice-president and Mrs. B. Hummel, secretary. Mrs. F. Little accepted the office of vice-secretary, as did Mrs. H. Gilbert as treasurer. Directors are Mrs. D. Greenlee, Mrs. C. McLean and Mrs. M. Sisson. Auditors are Mrs. E. Knudson and Mrs. P. Patterson. Sunshine Convener, Mrs. Knudson. The monthly raffle prize was won by Mrs. Knudson. Mrs. Bond presented a lovely gift to Mrs. Fleischman, who moved recently to High River, with regret at the loss of so valued a member. Mrs. Fleischman replied fittingly. The meeting was adjourned with the singing of "God Save the King." Mrs. McLean and her co-hostess, Mrs. F. Little, served a delicious lunch.

Fire of unknown origin broke out in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Smith on Thursday, Nov. 13, about one o'clock noon. The family had just finished lunch when Mr. Smith smelled smoke. Fortunately a recently purchased fire extinguisher was close at hand. Though hampered by the density of the smoke, the fire was finally located in a corner of the basement and was squelched with the extinguishers. The prompt action and assistance of neighbors averted what might have been a very serious fire. Only slight damage resulted.

Many Changes Noted
In the Vulcan Scene

The present building boom in Vulcan really got under way 16 months ago, with the excavation and building of the splendid Memorial swimming pool, by the local Lion's Club. This pool, which has provided two seasons of fine swimming for young and old, has proved one of the town's finest assets. It is 75 by 25 feet; has a full chlorination and filtration plant, as well as heating. The Vulcan Elks have undertaken the planning and planting of a beautiful park, to surround the Monument, adjacent to the pool. In this connection hundreds of trees, shrubs, rose bushes, lilacs and other nursery stock, were planted last Spring. The ground is now being prepared for the planting of grass and laying out of walks. The entire area has been well fenced this past summer.

Two smart new concrete and stucco buildings have been built on Vulcan streets this year. One, next to the Imperial Hotel, houses the Treasury Branch, and the second is a large building housing Donnelly's Bowling Alleys, six fine alleys which are proving very popular.

Not since the early days of the town's existence has there been such activity in home building. And never before has there been greater variety in the types of homes. This is due largely to the shortage of building materials. Some really fine new homes are under construction, with a few ready to move into. However, an aspect of this building business, which until now was comparatively rare, is the number of houses being purchased elsewhere and then brought to Vulcan. This is not being done especially in the interests of economy. Rather, it is because of the extreme difficulty prospective home owners experience in securing all manner of building materials. These second-hand houses are by no means cheap to own. By the time one considers buying of a lot, excavation and cementing of foundations; the actual purchase cost of the house from the original owner; the expense of having professional house-movers bring the house to town, and then the terrific cost of remodeling, decorating, painting and the thousand and one incidental expenses, the new home owner finds himself with a rather costly house. However there is one bright spot in this picture. As anyone who has purchased lumber in the past few years has learned only too well, much of it has been green and of an inferior quality. Now, although many of these houses being brought to town are not new, they were originally built of first class materials and are therefore likely to prove, in some instances, superior to newly built ones.

Considerably more building for Vulcan is in the offing. Of primary importance to one and all is the long anticipated water-works and sewage disposal system. This was voted on last spring and carried unanimously. Wells have been drilled, providing ample water for the town's needs. But that bugbear "Scarcity" has again put in its appearance, with regard to materials, and there is no definite assurance that actual installation work can begin before the spring of 1949, due to the shortage of sewer pipe. However, orders for materials have been placed for June, 1948, delivery, in case sewer tile does become available sooner.

A fine, and much needed addition has also been voted for the municipal hospital, and will be undertaken as soon as materials are procurable.

Engineers were in town recently in connection with the moving of the Recreation Hall from the airport, to be used as a drill hall and recreational centre.

During the past three years many other changes have taken place here. Old timers, who settled Vulcan and were among its first business men have retired, and new ones have taken their place. Prominent in this category was the selling of his practice by Dr. G. M. Carson to Dr. C. A. Jamison. Dr. Carson was Vulcan's first doctor and continued to practice here continuously from 1912 until last year, with the exception of the time he spent overseas in World War I. He has retired, but continues to make his home here, where he has a host of loyal friends. R. L. Elves, who was Vulcan's first business man, owning the first general store, and being the Post Master since the first mail was brought here, still officially holds that post, but has been on an extended leave and has sold his home here.

Two years ago W. J. Butchart, who had owned and operated the town's only tinsmith shop and plumbing business, since its inception, sold out to Percy Simpson and Son. Mr. Butchart had served the town as Mayor for many years, as well as holding offices in different organizations. Shortly after his retirement he became ill and passed away.

T. B. Lebeau, Vulcan's first blacksmith, who continued his work here until last year, sold his business to Arthur Scott, and with Mrs. Lebeau retired to make his home in Calgary.

The law practice of L. H. Stack, (Now Judge Stack of Calgary), sold three years ago to John Jamison, ended another link with the town's early history.

Other changes have been the building and the opening of a fine new electric shop on main street by W. J. Bruce Marsden, construction of a splendid stucco grocery store by Charles Northcott, next to the Canadian Legion hall, and the remodeling and opening of an up-to-date ready-to-wear by Gordon Cranston.

Ron Buehler, who owned and operated the Vulcan Electric store before the war, and was later employed in essential industry at the coast, has returned and re-opened his business in new quarters.

MacDonald's Electric, specializing in all types of magneto repairs, is another new business, owned by Archie MacDonald, a veteran of five years overseas.

Chester Rea, who was associated for many years with Brown's Garage, has built a modern garage and repair shop of his own.

Jim Shortt and Pierre Bourassa have established a business of their own, dealing especially in vulcanizing work.

The R. and S. Motors, is owned by C. J. Robinson and A. G. Saxby, two well known business men, is a fine new addition to the town's business section.

F. Gorbous, another newcomer to Vulcan, has opened a modern up-to-date furniture store, the only one in town.

The Vulcan Bakery, owned and operated for many years by R. R. Martin, was purchased two and a half years ago by Art Pendle and the Martin family now reside in Calgary.

The partnership of Morrison and Olsen of Lethbridge, was formed and bought out the Massey-Harris agency last year from W. Turley, who had owned it for a considerable time.

The Vulcan Jewelry store has changed hands in the last few months, with B. A. Lloyd, of Calgary purchasing it from V. Sager.

Re-organizing of the Vulcan Board of Trade is the latest undertaking and considerable interest is being shown in the venture.

Many farm lands, some of them homesteaded by those selling, have changed hands too, of recent years. Among them are the E. G. McPherson farm on the edge of town and the R. M. Patriquin place also adjacent to town, and some of the O. L. McPherson land east of town. W. J. Meyers, who pioneered in the Reid Hill community has recently sold most of his holdings and is retiring to Edmonton.

Arctic Breeds
Our Weather

Up to the present the Canadian Arctic has been a weather blind-spot and that blind spot is a matter of long range strategy because the Arctic is the breeding ground of weather. The Soviet Union has not overlooked this important fact. A recent Washington estimate credits the Soviet with 11 of the 22 radio observation stations north of the Arctic circle. If these are important to Russia, they are of importance to us. In addition to these major observation stations, there are 232 minor stations dotted about the Arctic circle. Of this total 153 are dotted along the long Soviet coast line on the Arctic. Another 59 are closely packed in the relatively small northern area of the Scandinavian countries closely adjacent to Russia. In Alaska, Canada and Greenland there are only a score of stations all told. This sharp disparity is the reason for the newly-awakened apprehension in regard to the Canadian Arctic in any policy of hemisphere defence. It is the reason for the decision on the part of Canada and the United States to do something about it. First evidence of decision is the plan to build nine major weather stations in Canadian-Arctic. The first five of these are to be scattered on the northern fringes of Canada, at Eureka Sound, Ellesmere Island; within 600 miles of the Pole; at Winter Harbour, Melville Island, and on Banks and Borden and Isachsen Islands. When these are completed we will know more about Hudson's Bay ice, more about Arctic defences, and more about the weather that is important both in peace or war.—Grand Prairie Herald.

NEWS OF INTEREST

Next year Alberta cars will carry two license plates. The lettering will be black on aluminum background. Police claim that enforcement of traffic regulations is more difficult when only the single plate is used.

Premier Garson of Manitoba hopes to create a debt retirement fund that will clear the province of debt in 35 years. Provincial debt has been decreased by 30 million since 1940. Gross debt is now 100 million, net debt 49 million.

Champlain brought milk cows to Canada from France in 1610, but until the U.E. Loyalists moved over to Canada with their stock, milk cows were very scarce. Now there is almost one head of beef per person.

Opening Up Coal Leases

The Alberta Government is accepting applications for coal mining leases in Alberta. These applications may come from any individual or company interested in developing the province's natural resources.

In 1936 the government followed a policy recommended by a royal commission, in which certain restrictions were placed on issuing coal mining licenses. This has been in effect as a policy since that time. New mining leases have been granted on sites for continuation of existing work, or where there was real local need.

But necessity for greater production has changed the policy. There are now 200 coal mines in the province. Under provincial law a mining lease has a maximum of four sections, and the leaseholder pays $1 per acre per year with royalty of 5 cts. a ton on production.

TO ERECT $80,000 PRINCESS ELIZABETH BUILDING AT NIAGARA FALLS

Work has started on an $80,000 building to be named in honor of Princess Elizabeth by the Niagara Parks Commission, at Niagara Falls, Ontario, at the main entrance to Queen Victoria Park, overlooking the American Falls. Designed in keeping with the picturesque surrounding, the building will provide year-round accommodation for the millions of Niagara visitors. As a public service, the building will contain information, refreshment and public rest room facilities. Sketch of the building is shown above.

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

In the High River Eye Opener of Oct. 23, 1903, Bob Edwards heralds the opening of the great anthracite mines west of town. Included in local items is the story of the great reunion of the Gump family, with all kith and kin. The editor has glowing reports of the Peace River, predicting a great future for the north country. Then he turns to the Manitoba election, the Barr Colony of Northern Alberta, and the appeal of Calgary Fish and Game to stop the terrible slaughter of fish and game.

High River Eye Opener, Oct. 23, 1903

Movement Afoot

A. B. Patrick, surveyor of Calgary with an outfit of ten men, is starting to survey a road between High River and the recently discovered anthracite coal mines in the mountains and to build stations along the route.

R. H. Robertson's oats and barley are good. Barley was 50 bushels and oats 80 bushels.

There is talk that the Millerville polo club will amalgamate with High River polo club. This will be a holy alliance between two great powers.

What ho, she bumps! High River race horses have been turning tricks at the coast. Shorty McLaughlin won three races with Beautiful Girl, Tosti and Idaho Chief.

The Gump Reunion

On Thursday a pleasant reunion of the Gump family, who came here lately from the other side and settled at Cayley, was held at the home of Wm. Gump. After a recherche dinner a dance was held with Billy Brown of Nanton calling off. James M. Swat of Gladys attended the Gump reunion, favoring the company with violin and mouth organ selections.

Thomas Gump of Gleichen attended the Gump reunion. He is a son of Oliver Gump who died with his boots on during the skirmish with stock detectives near Maple Creek a few years ago, and a nephew of Wm. Gump of Cayley. Ed. Gumps and wife of Mosquito Creek attended the Gump reunion. Rev. and Mrs. B. Gump of Willow Creek attended the Gump reunion. It is proposed to hold an annual reunion of this widely respected family and all its branches, so long as the Gumps hold out.

Queer Blunders

These are advertisements that the editor of the Eye Opener has come across from time to time, and stored away for the future.

Gentlemen wants shooting. Our p's cannot be approached. Wanted, a horse to do the work of a country minister.

Wanted, an organist and a lad to blow the same.

Gentlemen in the theatre will not use the seats till the ladies are seated.

Wanted by young woman, passage to England. Willing to take care of children and a good sailor.

Chinaman's advertisement indicating he is a maker of bread, "European loafer."

Up in Peace River

Austin Alexander and Walter Taylor have got back from a summer's sojourn north in the Lesser Slave Lake and Grande Prairie Region. They predict a great future for that country north of Edmonton. The Eye Opener goes regularly to Jim Cornwall and Mike Bridino, the well known traders on Lesser Slave so the boys kept right up with High River news. They have a great opinion of the Grande Prairie for ranching. Next spring Jim Cornwall will run a steamer from Athabasca Landing to Lesser Slave Lake. There are 16 miles of rapids, but some of this can be dynamited to make a better channel. The climate is almost identical with what we have here, chinooks and all. They fed stock only 35 days last winter. The only great lack up there is a local newspaper.

The Larger World

The game limit for brook trout is thirty.

Two full fledged Downtitties are the west looking for settlement for several thousand of the faithful.

Conservatives made a clean sweep in Manitoba with 30 elected against 4 Liberals and 4 seats doubtful. Premier Roblin and Hon. Wm. Rogers got phenomenal majorities.

Rev. Wm. Barr is at Ottawa asking a bonus for bringing over 2500 settlers from England to form the Barr colony. He says he got commissions from the transportation line but that only came to $13,000 and he spent most of it in England for printing, etc. He wants his outstanding service to this country appreciated.

The Calgary Fish and Game Association has called a convention from all parts of the province to stop the terrible slaughter of fish and game. ### VOOYS—OST

Large white bells with streamers of pink and white formed the setting in the bride's home, for an afternoon wedding Friday, Nov. 7, when Elsie Albertina Ost, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ost of Lomond, exchanged wedding vows with Gilbert Allen Vooys, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Vooys of Milo.

Rev. A. Gehring of Claresholm was the officiating clergyman.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowning in a floor length model of white jersey, featuring long sleeves and full skirt. Her coral headdress was trimmed with bows of white satin and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Her only jewelry was a triple strand of pearls.

In delicate contrast to the bride's ensemble was the floor length gown of dream blue sheer worn by Miss Margaret Vooys, sister of the groom. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Albert Ost, brother of the bride, assisted the groom.

After the ceremony about 35 guests were seated at tables to a sumptuous wedding dinner. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom, and flanked by pink tapers.

Rev. Gehring proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom fittingly responded. Those assisting in serving were Miss Shirley Mix and Mr. Walter Mix.

Later the happy couple, amid showers of confetti and rice, left by motor for a honeymoon at Vancouver, B. C. and different parts in the U. S. The bride chose for her going away costume a green suit, topped by a coat of grey with matching accessories.

On their return they will make their home on the groom's farm in the Milo district.

World Has Had Four Climatic Experiences

Dr. Deevey of Yale has been studying the earth's climatic history for the past 25,000 years. He claims that there were four major climatic periods with different types of forest vegetation.

Following the ice age, there was a brief period of sub-Arctic conditions similar to Northern Canada. This was succeeded by a spruce-fir period with vegetation similar to that now found south of northern Canada, lundras.

The next phase through north-eastern and central states was an oak-hemlock era, with warmer moisture climate.

Then came the oak-hickory period which was warmer and dryer. This reached its climax about 5000 years ago—and was the warmest since the end of the ice age. It was followed by the present oak-chestnut period, which tends to return to the earlier spruce-fir period.

Dr. Deevey gathers his evidence from pollen found in glacial lake bottoms. He believes the general trend is toward increasing coolness both on the North American continent and Europe. The height of warmth was reached in 3500 B. C. But he says the cooling off business is slow, and there's no need for alarm for some centuries yet.
